Jackie Tantillo began her broadcast career the moment she walked into her college radio station. To this day, Jackie is still captivated by the magic of radio's imaginative power. She believes that a presence of voice and the ability to command an audience are very unique and powerful gifts. These skills have enhanced her ability as an Educator and Talent, making her a leader with a solid framework that supports a lengthy and successful career.

Some of Jackie's diverse skills and accomplishments include national/international Voice Over and On Camera Talent, Producer and Recording Engineer, Talk Show Host, Spokesperson and Production Coordinator.

As a mentor and volunteer, Jackie instructed elementary and high school students in local theatrical productions as a Technical Director and created and coordinated Classical Lunch, a series of concerts featuring professional musicians performing live for more than 600 students a day. Her goal was to introduce and inspire children to the world of music.

In 2009, Jackie mentored and facilitated a high school student in the process of learning how to become a voice talent. She taught voice technique, copywriting, recording and editing production skills. The student was guided to create a final senior presentation incorporating his own poetry and short stories.

Presently, Jackie is the Female Voice/ Production Director of WABC Radio in New York City, where she is responsible for recording, editing, and producing commercials and promos as well as writing and editing copy. She is a longtime member of SAG/AFTRA.

Jackie is able to draw from her many years as a Spokesperson and Talent to bring warmth and insight to her many endeavors, including her role as a representative for organizations such as D.A.R.E., March Of Dimes, Muscular Dystrophy, Easter Seals and the 1980 Winter Olympics, Lake Placid, NY.

Jackie was born in Europe and her knowledge of conversational French, Italian and Spanish has broadened the scope of her work. She lives in Maplewood, New Jersey and loves spending time with her family in the outdoors and traveling.
